

Avenger Things by Heroic Alliance

Category: Avengers, Stranger Things, 2016

Genre: Adventure, Suspense

Language: English

Status: In-Progress

Published: 2019-09-09 09:28:21

Updated: 2019-09-16 14:02:49

Packaged: 2019-12-12 03:09:45

Rating: T

Chapters: 6

Words: 5,500

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: Eleven joins the Avengers, and trains with Doctor Strange to regain her powers. Meanwhile the Upside-Down goes to the present time(MCU World), and it will take Eleven and a new lineup of Avengers to send it back!

1. Goodbye, Elle

(Eleven POV)

Hello. My name is Eleven. Growing up in Hawkins, Indiana, I met four friends, Will, Mike, Dustin, and Lucas, all of which were loyal friends. After the battle of Starcourt Mall, my father, Jim Hopper had died, and he sent me a letter to remember him by. Seven years passed since my friends and I moved away from Hawkins into New York City, where we got an old apartment that was evicted in the neighborhood of Carpenter, which was a run down, underdeveloped neighborhood with a graffiti tag in every corner, there were outdated abandoned buildings nearby, and there wasn't fresh produce for miles, only gas stations and convenience stores with salty and sugary food and food products. It was a bright and sunny day, with the sun overlooking the looked a lot like Sesame Street, there was a man who lives in a garbage can, and there was some marijuana addict who ate everything, but there wasn't a fluffy monster only I could see. Max, the boys, and I were living happily in New York in our little loft apartment, playing Monopoly, when there was a loud noise that shook the apartment. The lamp fell over and broke. The glassware jiggled, and the lightbulbs broke. A futuristic looking jet came flying down, and landed in the middle of the street. It opened, and out came a man with a blue tunic, a red cape, and a medallion, and a black man with an eyepatch.

"We're here to talk to you about the Avengers Initiative." Fury said to me. "I'm Nick Fury, and this is Doctor Strange, a brilliant sorcerer of the Avengers."

"I am Eleven." I said. "What do you want with me and what is this Avengers Initiative?"

"We are offering you a spot on the Avengers, to help save the world." Strange answered.

"But I have lost my powers." I said.

"Train with me and he will help you get them back." Strange replied. I got on the jet, but the boys noticed that I was leaving.

"Eleven, who are these men?" Mike asked.

"They are known as the Avengers." I said.

"The Avengers, like in the Marvel Comics?" Dustin asked.

"We are." Fury said.

"Must be from an alternate universe, because I don't remember Fury being black." Dustin remarked.

"Long story that I do not want to explain to you." Fury explained, correcting Dustin. "Eleven, come with us and you will get your powers back, stay with them and you will never get your powers back."

"I will go with you." I said.

"We will miss you, Elle!" Mike said, crying.

"Don't go, you could get killed out there!" Will shouted.

"I am sorry, but my decision is final." I said. "Joining the Avengers is the only way I can get my powers back, since they have been gone for seven years, and I was 15 when I lost them, but now I am 22 now, I am a grown ass woman, I am no longer a child anymore. We are all adults now, so I should start acting like an adult and make my own decisions."

"Well, since we are adults, I guess you joining the Avengers will make decent income for us to pay the rent to this damn place." Lucas added.

"Lucas is right." Dustin said. "She's the only one here who is going to make the money, so it's for the best."

"Real Estate is expensive in New York, and with all that money you can earn from saving the entire world, you could spice this place up a little with your ladylike charm!" Mike said.

"I am glad you understand me, Mike." I said. The boys and I hugged each other as a group, while I got on the plane, and headed into the future in New York City, 2023.

TO BE CONTINUED...

Author's Notes: This is my third attempt branching out from anime, I tried once, but it was merely a fluke, and I tried again, but the result was too controversial and I was going into serious subject matter. So this time, I will try my best to create a whole separate multiverse from my anime multiverse, and I hope to expand upon it. See you then.

2. The Doctor is Here Tonight

(Doctor Strange POV)

Eleven arrived at Sanctum Sanctorum, wearing a yellow jacket and a black shirt with black pants. I was sitting in the green room with a red rug with an eye in the center. Bookshelves were on the walls, there were red curtains, and there were red chairs near a fireplace where I was sitting, sipping my tea and eating chocolate chip cookies on the table near the chairs.

"Hello, Eleven." I said. "Welcome to my mansion."

"Hi doctor." Eleven said.

"You are looking rather fabulous today." I said, complimenting my protege.

"Thank you." Eleven said, smiling.

"You are quite welcome." I said. "Our first lesson today is a simple meditation. I will get some candles and we will sit together." I ran to the dining hall to get candles, and placed them in the room where I met Eleven, and our session began.

"We are going to count to three, and when we reach three, we will close our eyes and you will meditate." I said to Eleven.

"Ok." Eleven said in a monotone voice.

"Three, two, one..." I said. Eleven had closed her eyes and was now meditating.

"What is it that you see?" I said.

"I see that the reason I cannot use my powers is because I pulled the Mind Flayer from my body." She said. "Ever since the portal was closed, my powers are no more."

"But you can have new powers." I said. "I got my powers through tutelage via a woman known as The Ancient One."

"So, your powers are magic?" Eleven asked.

"Exactly." You need to train with me and the Ancient one to unlearn what you have learned and gain your powers through magic." I said. I threw down a ton of spell books for Elle to study.

"Your homework assignment is to familiarize yourselves with these spell books and practice the spells for three hours a day, and cool down yourself with a nice refreshing Coca Cola." I pulled out a Coke from a portal I created.

"That Coke looks familiar." Eleven said. "That was how I tested my powers."

"Exactly." I said. "We Avengers are owned by Disney, and they work with Coke, so no wonder I have so many of these in store."

"So I gotta study hard and practice, right?" Eleven asked.

"Precisely." I said. "Practice makes perfect!"

Meanwhile...

(Emma Frost POV)

Frost International

In the laboratories of Frost International, there were icy stone walls, steel walkways, marble floors, and a large cannon firing a laser beam to open the portal to the Upside-Down. There I sat on a reclining throne atop a steel platform in front of a command center encased in glass. I was wearing a white fur coat with a white dress and boots, with my gold X men logo necklace. I oversaw the opening of the portal and smiled, seeing my men hard at work.

"At long last, the Upside Down will finally be re awakened after it has been closed for thirty years!" I said to myself.

"Queen Emma, you are brilliant." Selene Gallo, the Black Queen of the Hellfire Club, seen with long black hair and skimpy black attire, said to me. "Once the Upside Down world and the human world have become one, then hell will be on earth and the demogorgons will live amongst each other peacefully. By the way, how did you find out about the Upside Down?"

"Frost International has had data mining software built into our social media website, Frost Book." I said. "Frost Book has collected data of the Upside Down from the Byers family, friends of the family, and the Hawkins Police Department. We have archived news articles dating all the way back to 1984, archiving the TV news reports and posting them as Frost Book videos." I reached for my martini glass sitting on a table on the drink compartment of my throne, which was a reclining chair, and I sipped it. "Humans and Demogorgons have been apart for thirty years, and once the portal is opened permanently, humans and demogorgons will live together in harmony." I laughed maniacally as the portal opened and the Demogorgons came out of the portal, with their grey bodies and flowery heads, with teeth on the petals. The Black King, Sebastian Shaw, who had a brown ponytail and a beard, and a black suit with a white shirt and red vest had arrived, overseeing the project.

"This is brilliant, just brilliant." Shaw said. When hell and earth collide, the world will kneel before the Hellfire Club!" Everyone laughed maniacally.

"Do you really think it would be that easy?" Magneto said, walking in with a white variant of his iconic costume.

"Magneto, good to see you!" I said. "Let's make a deal, shall we?"

"What are you proposing?" Magneto asked.

"I am advising we should remain a team, and work to destroy the Avengers and their new friend." I said. "Once the Avengers are defeated and hell and earth are united, we shall puppeteer the United States and the entire world from behind the scenes, recruiting world leaders to our ranks, and when every leader of the world joins us, the world will be united along with the Upside Down, and there will be peace. No more war, and no more bloodshed."

"Sounds like we have a deal." Magneto remarked. "Us mutants now have a voice since Disney has bought up FOX, so let's use our voice and shout it out!"

"Exactly right, my White King." I said. "The voice of mutants must be heard, and this is the perfect opportunity to establish the role of mutants on the world stage." My White King, my Black Queen, my Black King, and I laughed maniacally as the Demogorgon armies slowly crept out the portal.

"With the help of the Hellfire Club, Frost International, and the army of Demogorgons, our plot to conquer and unite the world begins." I said.

"We may have won the war for mutant rights, but the rights of Demogorgons has just begun." Magneto added. "Demogorgons are technically not evil, they are misunderstood like mutant kind!"

"Agree." Sebastian Shaw said. "The foul humans shall perish for oppressing the Demogorgons." Sebastian made a little smile, indicating he was up to something.

"When hell and earth are united, people will finally be acceptant towards Demogorons." Selene said. Everyone laughed maniacally.

TO BE CONTINUED...

3. Are You Going to Wakanda?

(Black Panther POV)

Eleven was studying the books, studying real hard but could never get it. She put her head down, holding her hands on her head.

"I will never get it." Eleven said. She went into a sub psychotic rage, throwing the book across the room. Before it could fall, she accidentally used telekinesis to grab it.

"My powers are back!" Eleven cheered. Doctor Strange arrived to check on Eleven's progress.

"Have you mastered your training?" Doctor Strange asked.

"I already got my powers back." Eleven said.

"Great, because since Spiderman had...died of a heart attack, I am offering you the opportunity to lead the Avengers in Iron Man's place." Doctor Strange explained.

"Really?" Eleven asked.

"Yes, and before you lead them, you must know them." I walked into the room.

"Hello, I am T'challa, or you can call me Black Panther." I said.

"Hi, I am Eleven, or you can call me Elle." Eleven said to me.

"I will take you to Wakanda where you will get to know me." I said. I led Eleven to my VTOL plane and we took off to Wakanda.

Wakanda

Eleven and I walked out of the plane, and Eleven was in shock about the technological advanced city. She had never seen anything like it before. It was so advanced to her that she was left speechless. The golden palace and silver buildings to her looked like something she and the boys called Cloud City, not sure what that was.

"What do you think?" I asked her.

"I don't know where to begin." Eleven said.

"I can show you to my palace." I brought the woman into the palace, being Wakanda Saluted by my lady guards, and she had arrived in the lab where Shuri was, with her hair in dual buns, and wearing a white dress.

"Shuri, good to see you!" I said. "This is Eleven, and she is not from around here." I explained. "She wants to know me, because she will lead the Avengers soon."

"T'challa is a brilliant man." Shuri said. "When he ruled Wakanda, we were isolationist, but we eventually opened up to the world."

"When we opened up, we got our own Olympics team and World Cup team." I explained. "Also, the women's team beat the United States in the Women's World Cup 2019."

"The Americans were fighting against the patriarchy, but we were fighting an enemy far greater." Shuri commented. "We were fighting the Black Order, the race that wiped out half of life on this universe, and America just got caught on the crossfire."

"But on a lighter note, Starbucks, McDonalds, and KFC opened up in Wakanda, but Burger King and Taco Bell have yet to open in Wakanda." I explained.

"So, with that out of the way, I am Eleven, and I have telekinetic powers." She said. "I'm like a Jedi, but without a lightsaber."

"What's that?" I said. "Sorry, Us Wakandans haven't gotten a theater showing of Star Wars yet."

"A Jedi is a space samurai who wields a lightsaber, an energy sword." Eleven explained.

"Energy Sword?" Shuri remarked. "We are working on those in development, and we have one right here." Shuri pushed a button, and revealed an Energy Sword, a vibranium handle with a vibranium guard rail. Elle pressed the button, and a blue plasma blade erupted from the handle.

"It is our greatest weapon creation so far." Shuri said. There was a bit of a rumble, as lights were flickering on and off.

"This is not good, get to cover immediately!" I told my people. There were some strange alien creatures that showed up, and they spawned flower-like heads with teeth on the petals. One screeched so loud the glass in the lab started to break. Eleven, Shuri, and I were trembling in fear...

TO BE CONTINUED...

4. The Battle of Wakanda

(Magneto POV)

I was sailing along smoothly on the Genoshan flagship, the Asteroid M, while several smaller Genoshan fighters sailing into Wakanda. The grey and purple Genoshan tanks, which looked like modern Russian APC, only grey and with purple markings and the purple Genoshan flag with the Magneto Helmet as its logo.

"This is the chance for Wakanda and its people to fall, and Genosha and the mutants to rise." I said. The Demogorgons were in my ranks, running with the mutant warriors. Some four legged Demogorgons were being ridden by the mutants. This was the day we laid siege to Wakanda.

(Eleven POV)

"ENEMY AT THE GATES!" T'Challa shouted.

We were evacuated out of the palace and into our vehicles to defend the homeland of Wakanda.

"ZIBAMBE! ZIBAMBE! ZIBAMBE! ZIBAMBE!" The soldiers, now wearing olive green Western-like uniforms, said in unison. M'Baku, their leader, led the charge against the Genoshan army.

"WAKANDA FOREVER!" He chanted.

"WAKANDA FOREVER!" The soldiers said in response.

"Wakanda Forever!" I said, making the Wakanda salute. I used my telekinesis on myself to fly and I drew my lightsaber, slashing up the Genoshan mutants, deflecting lighting blasts and laser blasts, chopping them with my plasma sword, without there being much blood, because the plasma cuts through flesh really fast. I was jumping up top Genoshan APC's and picking them up with telekinesis and throwing them at other Genoshan personal. The Dora Milage, now in modern western like uniforms, fired their laser guns, and destroyed the Genoshan tanks and killed the Demogorgon soldiers.

Black Panther assisted me, and stood beside me, guarding me as I took out mutants. Magneto appeared, using his magnetic abilities, destroying the laser spears and Wakandan tanks.

"Magneto." Black Panther said.

"Black Panther." Magneto said.

"Genosha is close to uniting all of Africa, bringing industry, food, water, shelter, and massive wealth to Africa, and Wakanda cannot continue to rule itself."

"I am afraid it can." Black Panther said. Storm had arrived on the Genosha side, torn between Wakanda and Genosha.

"Do you know what happens when your soldiers leave?" Storm told Magneto. "They are forced into slavery, sent into labor and death camps, and even executed!" Storm had a vision where the African people were in Genoshan prison camps, mining for coal and working in factories to make Adamantium warheads, where many were transported to the camps in boxcars, crammed together like cattle. In other camps, people had to survive with little to no food or water, and were shriveled into skeletal form, and many were electrocuted by the mutants running the camps, while others were killed in gas chambers, and many even burned by mutants that use fire in ovens, proving that Magneto was just as bad as the Nazis he claimed to destroy. Storm ended her vision.

"You are just as bad as Hitler!" Storm told Magneto.

"Hardly." Magneto remarked. Magneto and Storm clashed with lightning, while Black Panther came and attacked Magneto. Magneto used his powers to rip off the Black Panther Vibranium suit, leaving T'Challa vulnerable. I tried to assist Storm, but she was knocked out by Magneto. Magneto had ascended into the air and used his magnetic abilities to level all of Wakanda, breaking the Vibranium buildings and smashing entire districts, making the entire nation fall to the ground.

"Wakanda is no more, the Black Panther has fallen, and mutants are the real master race!" Magneto chanted. "The sun never sets on the Genoshan Empire!" Magneto announced.

TO BE CONTINUED...

5. Divided We Fall

(Eleven POV)

The Helicarrier

"Eleven, it seems that you got along well with Black Panther." Nick said to me.

"It's a shame about Wakanda." I said, feeling guilty.

"Magneto is a tough enemy, so it wasn't entirely your fault." Nick said to me, comforting me. "Even Iron Man would get destroyed by Magneto real easily, because his entire suit is made of metal."

"Really?" I asked.

"That's why it was so hard to take him down after many failed attempts." Nick Fury said. "Captain Marvel is an old friend of mine, and she is here now." Captain Marvel came to me, looking fabulous as ever, but there was something about her that I didn't like.

"So, Cap, I wanted to lead the Avengers since Spider Man died of a heart attack." I said to the blonde woman.

"That is preposterous!" Marvel said. "If anyone should lead the Avengers, it is me."

"Why don't we decide with a coin toss, or a dance off, like in that West Side Story movie." Nick Fury suggested.

"NO COIN TOSS!" Marvel screamed. "Give me Edith or I blow up the whole Helicarrier!"

"Ok, here is Edith." Nick Fury said. "Take it." Nick Fury handed Edith to Captain Marvel. Captain Marvel put the glasses on.

"I feel like a supercool nerd." Danvers said to herself.

"Select a target." The female computerized voice said.

"Nick Fury is a target." Danvers said. A Stark drone came crashing into the Helicarrier and laser blasted Fury, killing him.

"BASTARD!" I screamed.

"Now I am the leader of Shield also, and you have no authority." Captain Marvel said. "Avengers, escort her off the ship!" Falcon, the new Captain America, Ant Man, and Winter Soldier escorted me into an escape pod and sent it flying towards Sanctum Sanctorum, where my old friend Doctor Strange was.

"Hello there, friend." Strange said. "I got you a present." Strange used a portal to bring the Milano into the street.

"That must be my ride." I said.

"Our ride." Strange said. "Captain Marvel has turned the Avengers evil, so we must form our own Avengers, the cosmic Avengers." I got in, and Thor and Hulk were there.

"Hello, strange woman!" Star Lord said.

"Hello there!" Thor said. "Want a beer?"

"Since I am at the legal age, ok!" I said, taking the beer from Thor.

"I'm Star Lord, and this is my crew." Star Lord said. "This fat blonde guy is Thor, and this green fellow, I believe is Hulk."

"I am Groot!" Groot said.

"I'm Eleven, nice to meet you." I said to Groot.

"I am Groot!" Groot said, again.

"Yes, you're Groot." I said sarcastically.

"I am Groot!" Groot said again.

"Ok, I get it, your name is Groot, I wasn't born yesterday." I said, sarcastically with a little anger.

"His vocabulary is restricted to I, am, and Groot." Rocket explained.

"That is his native language."

"That's a weird language." I said.

"Anyways, this is my ship, so I am Captain, but you, Eleven can be assistant to the captain." Star Lord said.

"All right, Captain, fly this thing!" I said.

"Well strap yourselves in, because this is going to be a bumpy ride!" Star Lord announced. He started the ship, and took off vertically, then flew off into outer space by jumping to hyper speed. We had formed our new Avengers team, and had two enemies on our hands, Magneto and the Earth's Mightiest Avengers.

TO BE CONTINUED...

Meanwhile...

The Nick Fury that Captain Marvel had killed was a robot decoy, and the actual Fury was in an enclosed Shield location somewhere in the Southeast. Only Fury could settle the score between the two leaders...

6. Reuniting the Avengers

(Eleven POV)

The Helicarrier

Captain Marvel had Edith, and she was sitting where Fury used to sit.

"Eleven is a target." She said. There was a satellite outside where we were flying, sending drones chasing us.

"There are some drones on our tail!" I said to Star Lord.

"I know. The drones shot lasers at the Milano, damaging the ship.

"It's Captain Marvel!" I said, taking control of the ship.

"What the hell are you doing?" Star Lord said.

"I am flying the ship suicide into the Helicarrier!" I said. Sweat tears of rage dropped down my head as I was flying the ship directly into Earth.

"You're going to burn up in the atmosphere!" Rocket said to me.

"Exactly!" I told the talking rodent. "That way I will become a molten fireball of doom that will end her reign of terror. The ship was burning in the atmosphere, on a crash course aimed directly at the Helicarrier, but suddenly a fireman Shield robot put the fire out and sent the ship crash landing on the deck of the Helicarrier, crushing the Milano. Captain Marvel arrived, and I grabbed her with telekinesis.

"No matter how hard you try, you will never be as strong as Tony Stark." I said with rage.

"I am afraid I am already stronger." Captain Marvel said. Fury was beside us, and he intervened.

"I'm not looking for another Tony Stark here, I am looking for a leader, and individual who can lead the charge of the greater good and who understands sacrifice." Fury continued. "Instead of bickering like children and trying to blow each other up, you could be out there proving yourselves. You should be ashamed!" Nick Fury walked out. Black Panther walked in.

"He has a point." T'Challa said. "My homeland of Wakanda was destroyed, but you don't see me trying to blow up Killmonger, if he is still alive. While you might not be Tony Stark, you could prove yourselves, and helping me get revenge for Wakanda is the first step."

"What will you have us do?" I asked.

"Help me get revenge on Wakanda by kidnapping someone close to Magneto." T'Challa said.

"Who would that be?" Captain Marvel asked.

"From Shield's databases, it would be Emma Frost, the CEO of Frost International, which is headquartered in New York, but odds are she could be with Magneto in what is known as New Erik, formerly known as Wakanda." T'Challa said.

"What can we do about it?" I told T'Challa.

"You go to the armory and get me a Stark Industries Black Panther suit, codenamed the Iron Panther." T'Challa explained. "It comes with a demagnetization feature, and once it is demagnetized, Magneto won't be able to touch it. Stark intended to give me the suit when he was alive, but never gave me the suit because he forgot about it."

"What are we waiting for, let's go to the armory!" Captain Marvel said. We went to the armory, and found the suit in storage. "T'Challa went into the pod with the suit, and the suit formed around Black Panther, creating the Iron Panther.

"Iron Panther transformation complete." T'Challa said to himself.

"Now we need to go to New Erik and find Frost." I said. We went outside the armory onto the deck. Captain Marvel held my hand, and T'Challa held her hand, and we all flew to New Erik, and landed in the Frost International Genosha Branch, located in the Genoshan puppet state of New Erik.

"They won't let us walk in like this." T'Challa said.

"So we fight our way in." Captain Marvel remarked. She turned on her MP3 Player and "Baby One More Time" played in the background. I used telekinesis to blow open the door. Captain Marvel used her cosmic abilities to create a cosmic wave to take out the mutant guards, hitting them and bouncing off them. The cosmic wave was racking up points like a pinball machine. Black Panther shot laser blasts, shooting lasers at the guards. I used telekinesis on one of the guards and made him crash into the other guards. We ran for the elevator and got to the 4th floor, and killed the guards on the 4th floor. Black Panther shot a missile at the janitor taking his mop back to storage, and he exploded into a puddle of blood. We took the next elevator leading to the eighth floor, and it was the floor where the cafeteria is. I used my telekinesis to throw a fork and make it go through people, slicing through skin really fast, so minimal blood was shed. The fork racked up kills like a Patronus mixed with a pinball machine. We got to the final floor, the tenth floor, which was where Emma Frost was, typing on her computer.

"How did you get past my security?" Emma asked.

"Easy, because we are the Avengers." I said. I used telekinesis to knock her head to the desk. We tied up Emma with a computer cable, duck taped her mouth and jumped out the window.

"Load her in the trunk!" Black Panther said. We loaded Emma Frost in the trunk of her white 2019 Corvette, and drove away.

"Let's get out of here before more mutant guards arrive." Black Panther said. They took the Corvette and drove out of the premises.

"What does this button do?" Captain Marvel said. She pressed a button and the vehicle switched to flight mode.

"Flight mode engaged." a computerized voice said. The car's wheels went sideways and turned into jet boosters, and became a plane. The car flew back to the Helicarrier, and landed safely on the runway. We opened the trunk and removed the tape from her mouth, escorting her in a secret room for questioning.

She was tied up in a chair in the workroom, while there was a table with spark plugs, some kung fu gloves, a gasoline can, and a baseball bat. We began the interrogation.

"Are you the governor of New Erik?" I asked Emma. Emma was silent. I picked up the baseball bat and hit Emma with it.

"Yes, yes I am!" Emma said.

"Was that so hard?" Captain Marvel remarked.

"Where is Magneto?" I asked.

"I can't tell!" Emma said. Captain Marvel waterboarded her with gasoline.

"He is on Asteroid M, in outer space." Emma said. "But Magneto is just the puppet of a much larger villain generated by the unification of the Upside Down and Earth."

"What is it called?" Black Panther asked.

"It is called the Daedalus, an otherworldly being resembling a T Rex, but with two mouths and wings like a demon." Emma explained. "This being served the Mind Flayer, but after the death of the Mind Flayer, it is the dominant ruler of the Upside Down."

"How do we destroy it?" I asked. Captain Marvel was about to roast Emma with her fire abilities.

"Use Doctor Strange to go back in time and stop Magneto before Wakanda is destroyed, and then go forward in time so the action of killing Magneto changes the future, saving Wakanda. The portal is located in Frost Labs in Frost International Headquarters in New York." Emma explained. "Once the portal is closed, the Daedalus and all Demogorgons will die, because they cannot survive in this world."

"That's all we needed to know." Captain Marvel said. She let Emma Frost go, and escorted her to meet Doctor Strange.

"Doctor we need you." Black Panther said. "Throw open a portal in time and send us back to when Genosha invaded Wakanda."

"Fury demands it!" I said.

"As you wish!" The doctor answered. He opened a portal in time, and took us back to the fight with Magneto in Wakanda.

"Hardly." Magneto remarked. Magneto and Storm clashed with lightning, while Black Panther came and attacked Magneto. Before Magneto could rip off the Vibranium suit and destroy Wakanda, Emma, Captain Marvel, me Doctor Strange, and Black Panther entered through the portal. I grabbed Magneto telepathically, and Captain Marvel, Emma, Storm, Strange, and Black Panther combined their powers to finish him off. Black Panther's Iron Man suit disintegrated and his old suit was back because he never ripped off the suit since the timeline was altered.

"Wakanda has been saved!" M'Baku shouted.

"We march on for liberation!" Okoye shouted. "WAKANDA FOREVER!"

The Wakandan Army had destroyed all the remnants of the Genoshan forces, as well as Asteroid M, winning the day for Wakanda.

New York City

Doctor Strange created a portal in time leading to the Big Apple, Frost Premises, where the Portal was. I was ready to destroy the portal. There were footsteps in the distance, possibly being made by a large creature.

"We have got to run!" I said. "Let's move!" We moved through the door, running as fast as we could from the Daedalus, and we had arrived at the portal.

Emma, good to see you." Sebastian and Selene said.

"The both of you are kicked out of the Hellfire Club." Emma snapped. "In fact, I am disbanding the Hellfire Club once and for all."

"You can't!" Sebastian said.

"Yes I can." Emma said. "Now begone with you!" She used her telepathic abilities to force Sebastian and Selene to commit suicide, and they did. Selene choked herself and Sebastian stuck a gun in his mouth and pulled the trigger. Emma used her telekinesis to pull the lever to stop the portal generator.

"Frost, what are you doing?" One of Frost's co workers said.

"She is one of us now." I said. "We killed Magneto, and kidnapped her, so now she works for us." I helped Emma stop the machine with telekinesis, pulling the levers. The machine overloaded and exploded, killing the Daedalus.

"Yea, we did it!" I said. "The Daedalus is no more!"

Shield Helicarrier

Eleven, here is your cut for saving the world." Fury said. "Here is your cuts as well." Fury handed the rest of the Avengers a cut of the $150,000,000,000 dollars, giving all five of us thirty billion dollars.

"Sorry Nick, I wanted to be Avengers leader, but I have to go back to my time period." I said, crying.

"That's ok." Nick said. "I didn't expect you to be leader, considering how new you are to the team." Doctor Strange opened a portal in time and sent me home, back to the old street of New York where I arrived. The boys were back home from their jobs, and when I arrived, they were glad to have me back.

"How was the future?" Dustin said.

"It was a hell of an experience." I said to Dustin. "It had many things you can't find in Hawkins, like..." I was cut off.

"Also, you won't need to live in this sideways tugboat." I said. "I got 30 billion dollars as payment for saving the world, so we can live in a mansion together." The boys cheered and screamed. We sold the tugboat, went to find a foreclosed mansion, bought it, and were happy living in paradise. Since I traveled back in time, the 30 billion was worth more in the 90s than it was in 2023. We were happy together, united once again.